Convoy!

If you were on State Road 717, State Road 75 and on West Canal St. South and thought you saw a convoy of golf carts, you did. It was the city conveying the old golf carts from the municipal golf course to the city garage where their owner will pick them up. But Ray Wiseman found the golf carts weren't exactly effective as C.W. McCall's. Either they didn't have CBs or Patrolman Larry Spronge played the White Knight.

Advisory board, education planned

March of Dimes organizing here

The first step was taken last Thursday to organize an advisory board in the Glades for the Palm Beach County March of Dimes, along with a year-long educational program.

"The idea," MOD County Director Bo Stine said of the education program, "is to reach as many women of child bearing age as possible. There are about 1,000 babies born in Glades General and Everglades Memorial Hospitals every year and national statistics show one of every 14 children born has a birth defect.

"Of course," he went on, "a lot of those defects are minor and can be corrected but some of them are major and that's what the March of Dimes is all about."

Being given a high priority in the education program in the Glades is a concerted effort slated to begin within the next few weeks at Glades Central and Pahokee High Schools.

Principals Jack Redding of Pahokee High and Dr. Effie Grear of Glades Central were on hand for the meeting last week at the Everglades Federal meeting room in Pahokee and both agreed to give their cooperation to the school program.

"Let's face it," Stine said, "at least 75 percent of the girls attending high school today will be bearing children in the next few years and that's a lot of possible birth defects."

Stine said the March of Dimes is also planning to make materials such as films and film strips and speakers available to every woman's club in the Glades area through the Glades

Advisory Board.

"Like the preacher said," Stine said, "we're gonna spread the word." He said there are pamphlets available on nutrition, venereal disease, alcohol and tobacco, pollution and everything that might affect the outcome of a pregnancy.

"We have one film that's super," he said, "that's about two women who were using cocaine when they became pregnant and were switched over to methadone."

Stine said he has personally observed an eight-hour old infant in Vicksburg, Miss. which was undergoing withdrawal because the mother had been using heroine. "It wasn't pretty," he said.

On establishing the Glades advisory board, Stine said the March of Dimes is attempting to bring its programs closer to the western county area by getting people involved on a local level.

Chosen to coordinate efforts in Belle Glade was James Huggins of 1608 S.E. Ave. G while Gayle Dixon of 223 Cypress Ave. in Pahokee.

Persons interested in more information on the March of Dimes were requested to call Huggins at 996-3714 or 996-2076 in Belle Glade and Mrs. Dixon at 924-5691 ("Don't get upset," she said, "because that's the Police Department. I work there.") or 924-5307.

Pahokee may pull out of solid waste disposal project

The expected breakup of a joint effort to establish a solid waste disposal facility for the entire Glades area didn't take place Tuesday night but the Pahokee City Council moved to consult with its engineers on the possibility of building its own site.

The problem first came up during the July meeting when Pahokee representative on the BPAC, William McKinstry, said the Pahokee City Council would not sign the necessary inter-local agreement unless it included some provision for lower fees to make up for the extra miles Pahokee garbage trucks would have to travel.

Belle Glade City Commissioner Aubrey Farmer, who represents Belle Glade on the BPAC, protested the idea at that time and led an argument Monday night which rejected the Pahokee proposal by a three to one vote.

"I said it would be a stacked deck," McKinstry said after the vote, in which he disagreed with Farmer, South Bay Mayor Donald Tanner and County Commissioner Bill Bailey.

"I've talked about this with the (Belle Glade) commissioners," Farmer said, "and they say no. If you (McKinstry) prefer, we can look for a site in Pahokee and Belle Glade won't ask anyone to pay for hauling our garbage up there."

Belle Glade Commissioner Tom Altman, who asked to speak to the BPAC, said he could understand McKinstry's position but couldn't agree Belle Glade, South Bay, the SWA and the county should reimburse Pahokee for the added distance.

"We've all got to do what's best for our constituents," Altman said, "and we've got to be concerned with providing the cheapest legal method of disposal possible."

While they weren't as strong as Farmer in their objections, Tanner and Bailey agreed with consulting engineer Charles Anderson that while they could see McKinstry's viewpoint, they felt the accounting which would be required for any compensatory program would outweigh the advantages of the compensation.

"We're hauling to the other side of Pahokee now," Tanner said of South Bay, "so any kind of change looks good to us."

Candidates questioned again

EDITOR'S NOTE: Five candidates in the two city elections coming up in South Bay Tuesday and in Belle Glade on Sept. 13 answered this week's question: "Voters should be familiar with a candidate's personal background [how long in the community, business interests, family, membership in organizations, etc.]. Can you outline your personal background for the public and give us some idea of your feelings on the needs of your community?"

SOUTH BAY GROUP ONE

Thomas Adams

I feel that to be able to accomplish this, the city needs new ideas and strong young individuals who are capable and willing to help build a better and safer and more beautiful South Bay. My principal concern is the people because the people are what makes up South Bay. I would like to see a mail-man route, recreation center to minimize juvenile delinquency, reconditioned houses, street signs, sidewalks, jobs for our young people and old people who are willing and able to work, a medical center, park site, a bank, shopping center, a larger fire and police department. I would work to find ways of obtaining grants to help construct these basic facilities of a municipality.

I am a life-long resident of the City of South Bay. I attended Rosenwald Elementary, graduated from Glades Central High School in 1973 among the top 25 percent of the graduating class. Prime sponsor of a little league baseball team.

A higher aim

A HIGH JUMP did no good as a defensive secondary player with the Raiders found he could still miss what should have been an intercepted pass. Under the training, though, he went back until he did it right. See Story P. 9

"You've Come A Long Way, Baby" says the television commercial. And you had best believe it. Women are into everything these days. The Boy Scouts have become simply "Scouts" and even the Rotary and Jaycees are being invaded.

There are no more male strong-men. Even the world of tournament bass fishing is being plunged into the depths by an army of female anglers who are taking an increasing interest in the money circuit. Locally, the Ellie Martin Bass Tournament, held monthly, are perhaps the best attended of all and the no. worthy. Even if there presently exists a slight misunderstanding between Mrs. Martin and the Belle Glade City Commission.

According to Jim Floyd of the Florida Game and Fish Commission, 22 million women purchased fishing licenses last year and he expects this to double by 1980.

As where the sport goes, so go the tackle makers.

That's the reason you'll shortly be seeing fishing tackle "strong enough for a man, but made for a woman." At least one major manufacturer is unrelenting plans for fishing rods color coordinated to the ladies' jumpuits, also designed with fishing in mind but fashion in flavor.

At the upcoming Big Bass Seminar in Orlando in December, two of the featured guest will be women, Sugar Rowden, president of Bass'n Gal, a Texas fishing club, and Ann Strobel, tackle expert and casting professional for the Garcia

Angels. Be a "gung" on New

And here are a lot of new angles to be seen about.

Personally, I am something of a bass fisherman...and though I don't mind having the ladies along, there are certain drawbacks. One of these, and certainly not the least, is that women seem to have more luck than men. Not just the wife, mind you. On any given day, any given female can catch me two to one using the same tackle, fishing in the same place and in the same way.

I don't like it, but then nobody ever asked, either.

Then there is the question of scenery.

As the picture above graphically portrays, scenery can be something of a problem when angling with a female. I mean, how would you like to be stuck in a boat with her all day?

While I admit the thought has its good points, the bad would have to come in as well. Especially when she pulled a bass that large while you caught nothing.

But the ultimate...the worst...the most disastrous part of all about fishing with a female is as follows. You're sitting there, finally catching a few fish. And you hear a mumbled request from the little lady.

It doesn't register at first as you tug in another bream. But when it does, it strikes with the swiftness and surety of a cottonmouth. "YOU'VE GOT TO DO WHAT?"

Schools, superboards and taxes

A number of proposals were made during the first two hearings of the state Constitutional Revision Commission last week but two of the most potentially dangerous concerned education.

There is a common danger in the proposals for a state "Superboard of Education" and a "tax relief" program offered by the NAACP State Representative Buddy MacKay (D-Ocala), respectively.

That's the danger of the loss of local control over local schools.

MacKay's proposal at least comes cloaked in the attractive raiment of lower taxes for property owners while the superboard proposed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is an open bid for state control over local schools.

And that's why MacKay's is the more dangerous of the two.

Neither voters nor legislators are likely to back the superboard but relief to taxpayers during the 1978 election year must be an attractive re-election tool for state politicians.

No one minds taxes as long as someone else pays them or they aren't so noticeable as property taxes. But if MacKay giveth relief from school taxes, MacKay taketh away the ad valorem cap of ten mills city and county governments can now legally tax freeholders.

And if the $8 Glades taxpayers now pay for education for every $1,000 worth of property they own seems like a grinding load, consider the tax burden of the Columbia, South Carolina homeowner.

South Carolinians don't enjoy the protection of a millage ceiling and the taxes for Columbia homeowners was increased more this year than the total Belle Glade freeholders paid last year.

While Belle Glade residents had to pay 30.921 mills, a lot of Columbians will have to cough up an unbelievable 242, and that's no misprint, mills to keep a roof over their heads. That's an increase of 37 mills over last year.

Thanks but no thanks, Mr. MacKay. If it's all the same to you, we'd just as soon pay our eight mills for education and keep the protection of a millage cap on city and county taxes.

Coke cloak

We noticed in the news a couple of weeks ago that the government of India is losing a major battle on a ground of its own choosing. In a skirmish with Coca Cola, the Indians said it was all right with them if Coke runs a bottling plant there but they want in on the company's secret formula.

For all the good it's doing them, though, the Indians might as well be in a movie pitted against John Wayne. Coke isn't budging off their generations-old secret.

Which just goes to prove: If the CIA wants agents with the best possible counter espionage training, they ought to forget about sending them to Langley and ship 'em to Atlanta.

Stunting

We have no doubt Russell Troutman was sincerely outraged last week at a "publicity stunt" pulled by state Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter.

Only question is what he was outraged about. Troutman told the state Constitutional Revision Commission in Gainesville that Gunter's plan to cut insurance rates by limiting lawsuits for "pain and suffering" in auto accidents would abridge constitutional rights.

Troutman was so outraged over the violation of Floridians' rights, it probably slipped his mind a side effect would be a reduction of insurance premiums by a considerable amount.

And there's no doubt the outrage was compounded by the fact Gunter is a probable candidate for next year's gubernatorial race and there is just a hint of a possibility Gunter may have been using the issue as campaign ammunition.

On t'other hand, we wonder if the outrage might not have also been reinforced by Troutman's position as president of the Florida Bar and his highly successful practice in Tampa as an attorney specializing in personal injury cases.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

There ain't nothing sacred no more.

Despite what they say about not being able to go back, I decided a take a trip through Fort Jackson a couple of weeks ago when I was visiting a friends up in Columbia, South Carolina.

Believe it! There ain't no return. Passed by the barracks where we enjoyed many pleasurable. GI party back when was going through boot camp (Never mind when) and just got all eaten up with the nostalgia bug taking a look at how familiar and decrepit everything was.

There were even a group of boots out in front of the mess hall waiting for noon chow but that's just about where the nostalgia ended and bewilderment set in.

The first thing I noticed was the absence of the old chin-up bar where we had to hoist our bodies a given number of times before being favored with the internationally renowned cuisine of the company mess hall. (I noticed too, they don't refer to it any more as a mess hall. Nowadays, it's the Company D Dining Facility, thank you.)

I was pretty sure they still had that good ole cookery I remember sweating over on KP so many times: goodies like boiled potatoes, garnished with a healthy serving of penicillin, massacered filet shoe sole, fried turnip greens and for dessert, a tasty concoction I later found out was a mixture of flour and water coated with Elmer's glue.

Have to admit one thing; even if it did take a while for a body to get used to the regional cuisine (only on Fort Jackson) the meal managed to stick to four ribs...and stick, and stick and stick.

What blew my mind, though, was the appearance of the troops sweating it out in the sun. They still wore the same style of fatigues that look remarkably like rejects from Omar the Tentmaker but that was where the similarity ended.

There were places where those troops' bobs where you could actually make out the form of something under the uniforms. Like a hint of a hip in places. Or the definite outline of a chest under a fatigues jacket. That was the jackets were hanging out too. That's something we woulda been given forty lashes for a few years ago.)

Then I noticed the curly locks flowing out from under the helmet liners and said to myself, "Self, sezzi, 'what kind of a deal is this. Either these troops are having it easy as Zumwalt's Navy or something is definitely amiss here."

And that was when I figured it out all by my lonesome. Those boots weren't boots. Those boots were women in boots' uniforms. Or those women were boots.

Don't get me wrong. There had women at Fort Jackson when I went through too. I distinctly remember two WAACs and a nurse. I remember cutting a sharp eyes right once when we passed these. Guess that was the sergeant's way of showing respect to superior officers...or our way of showing awe at something we had been led to believe had disappeared from the face of the earth about the times we raised our hands, even if reluctantly, and said, "I do."

At any rate, there was the inescapable fact right out in front of God and everyone. Women are now being trained for combat in the U.S. Army and they're doing it right there near Columbia.

Now that may sound good in print, but there ain't no way I figger you can properly train a man for combat when he's distracted by the reminder that somewhere out there beyond Fantasy World, U.S.A., there still exists the same same world he'd been trained to join forces with Uncle Sugar's hired killers.

The fool place looked more like a college campus than a combat training center for a branch of the country's armed forces. There were these recruits. I know that when I went through there, the only boots who might've tried a stunt (like that would have been kicked out of the service for being P.R.E-vert but this looked more natural).

And that's an unhealthy situation. That means Trouble with a capital "T" in River City. Besides, where the heck were the women when I was there and needed 'em?

Pahokee Chamber supports resolution

PAHOKEE-The Pahokee Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors held the September meeting early due to the upcoming Labor Day Holiday. The meeting was held at the Chamber Office on the evening of August 29th with Doug Potter, president presiding. Due to a lack of a quorum no formal action could be taken, however, several topics were discussed.

Mr. Potter announced that he will attend the Ribbon Cutting Ceremonies celebrating the opening of the four-laned sections of SR 80 west from South Bay through Belle Glade, also the sections of US 41 north to Hooker Highway. The ceremonies will be held Saturday morning September 10th at the Hillsboro Canal Bridge beginning at 10:30 a.m. The public is invited and encouraged to attend.

Mr. Doug Clark presented the first draft copy of the new proposed City Map. The maps will be printed locally.

Upon the suggestion of Pahokee Mayor, Duncan Padgett it was decided that the directors will write a letter to the Pahokee City Council commending the council for their support of Resolution 7726 which states:

"A resolution of the City of Pahokee request that the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Palm Beach adopt a budget for the Palm Beach Sheriff's Department which does not spread the cost of the Sheriff's Road Patrol to properties lying within Palm Beach County municipalities maintaining their own Police Departments."

Copies of the letters will be sent to all five Palm Beach County Commissioners.

It was announced that the next Board of Directors meeting will be held at the Chamber Office on Monday, October 3rd beginning at 7 p.m.

BRUCE BOWE of Bruce Bowe Insurance Company proudly stands by his new office building on Avenue A, which opened August 8. The new spacious office stands in the place of the old Everglades Federal Building.

Local car salesman is robbery victim

BELLE GLADE-A local car salesman who offered to take a "customer" for a demonstration ride Friday found his position reversed when he was driven into a cane field at gunpoint and robbed.

Sgt. John Raulerson said Ricky Gold, a salesman at Tom Bonavia Motors, shortly after noon offered to demonstrate a 1974 Chevrolet Impala to Ethelrod Kelly, whose name and address Raulerson didn't have.

Driving down Southwest Avenue E. to SR 715, Raulerson reported Gold said he and Kelly passed a gray Mercury Cougar and Kelly flashed his headlights at the other car, which turned around and followed Kelly and Gold to the intersection of SR 715 and SR 80.

Raulerson said a man jumped out of the Cougar, wearing a ski mask and brandishing an automatic pistol, and got into the Impala, ordering Kelly to drive into a cane field a mile south of the intersection.

When the two cars stopped, the masked man ordered Kelly out of the Impala after taking $3 to $4 and his paycheck from his wallet. The two cars then drove off.

Raulerson said Kelly was arrested by Major Walter Collins of the South Bay Police Department at 3 p.m. Friday when he drove the Cougar up to the South Bay City Hall ostensibly to pay his water bill.

At the same time, Raulerson said another of the three men involved attempted to cash the stolen paycheck at the Thriftway Supermarket in Pahokee. Area merchants had already been alerted by the Sheriff's Office however, and Pahokee Police officers were summoned, although the man had left with the paycheck before he could be arrested.

When Kelly was arrested, Raulerson said, officers found an automatic pistol answering the description given by Gold was found, along with two ski masks and a shotgun, identified Tuesday as being stolen two weeks earlier during a burglary.

The Impala was also recovered Friday after it was abandoned behind Rosenwald Elementary School in South Bay.

Raulerson said Kelly has been charged with robbery and deputies are now looking for two other suspects.

Insurance firm moves to new office

BELLE GLADE-The Bruce Bowe Insurance Company moved into their new office on August 8. The spacious new office was built in the place where the Everglades Federal building used to stand.

Bruce Bowe is Nationwide Insurance agent. He handles all types of insurance, including life, home, auto, and business.

Bruce Bowe has been in the Glades for the past 15 years. He has had his insurance office for the past seven. He first opened in April, 1970.

Bowe commented on how much he likes the Glades area. He said that he was real happy to have helped in the beautification of Avenue A. He also stated that he has gained faith in this community or he wouldn't have put his hard earned money into a new building.

The old office will be rented to Bert Ward.

Mrs. Maria Garcia, Bowe's secretary, also seems pleased with the new office.

Bruce Bowe and his wife, Irene, have two daughters, one who lives in Lake Worth and one who lives in Atlanta, Georgia.

City Commissioner—South Bay Group One

Tuesday, September 6th

South Bay, "The Crossroads of The Everglades," is fast becoming "Prime Location", both large and small business since our four lanes are nearing completion.

This, in turn, will offer many new jobs for our citizens. We need these new businesses and we need these new jobs for our people. It therefore becomes very important that we have hard working City Commissioners and City employees to put forth the extra effort necessary to provide new housing projects, upgrade our streets, build new ones, upgrade our water plant, better our garbage pick-up, sewage, etc., to meet all the oncoming demands.

I am 51 years old and have lived in South Bay since 1952. I served on the City Council four years back in the 1950's. I own a business in South Bay and have worked as an employee for a couple of the large businesses here. My age and experience qualifies me to run for City Commissioner.

Thank you

KEEP TAKING THE MEDICINE!

Too often, people will stop taking a medicine because they think that an illness has disappeared. This can be harmful, especially in cases of children who are given anti-biotics to combat an infection. If your physician directs you to give a child a medicine four times a day for ten days, keep giving that prescription until it is all used up.

In studies where medicine was stopped before it was finished, over 20 per cent of the children showed lingering traces of infection, requiring another round of medication.

Mrs. Bleech dedicated to hospital work

If you want to talk to a little bit of a dedicated volunteer worker at Everglades Memorial Hospital, you should talk to Mrs. Marion Harman Bleech.

Mrs. Bleech, 75, was honored last week when the Hospital Auxiliary dedicated the Chapel room to her. She has a varied background which included a tremendous amount of volunteer work.

A graduate of St. Cloud High School, Mrs. Bleech attended Fla. State College for Women, which is now Fla. State University. She said she was the only graduate of her high school in 1920 because, at that time, World War I had begun and "all of the boys went to war and the girls got married."

She was married to Otto R. Bleech in July, 1921 and they had three children: Marion Jean, now deceased, Ross who was killed in World War II in the South Pacific, and David.

She has been a resident of Pahokee since 1939 and has lived at her present address, 1047 cited Bacom Pt. Rd., since 1941. She is a life member of the Everglades Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, life member of the Fla. Federation of Gardens Clubs, member of St. Martha's Guild, member of the Fun-after-Fifty-Five Club and member of the Church of the Holy Nativity, Pahokee. In the past, she worked for several years with the Pahokee Red Cross Motor Corps.

As a member of the Everglades Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, she has held the office of Vice President twice, Parliamentarian for several years and has given over 13,000 volunteer hours of work in the hospital. She also led the work of hospital candy strippers for seven years.

Mrs. Bleech says people have often told her that she has a "mind of trivia," and she heartily agrees. Throughout one conversation, she cited several different facts of trivia. For example, she said the reason why John Hancock signed the Declaration of Independence in such large hand writing was so that "King George III wouldn't have to put on his spectacles."

Mrs. Bleech, proud of her son's military accomplishments and her father's congressional service, enjoys all sports, especially football. She has attended all but a few Pahokee High School football games since 1939 and has set in the same seat since that time.

Mrs. Bleech is happy with her hospital work and so are her fellow "pink ladies" as they thoughtfully dedicated the hospital chapel to her. At the dedication meeting last Tuesday, Mrs. Bleech was genuinely surprised and honored and even shed a few tears.

New schedule for church announced

PAHOKEE—Following the Sunday Morning worship service, the congregation of the Church of the Holy Nativity enjoyed a bountiful breakfast. After the breakfast a parish meeting was held to discuss plans concerning the growth of the church.

A new schedule for church services was accepted as follows: Sunday - 10:30 a.m. Holy Communion, 5 p.m. Youth Group and 8 p.m. BPM Confirmation Group. The new schedule for Wednesday will begin with Holy Communion at 7:30 p.m. and Bible Study to follow at 8 p.m.

Also, during the meeting a formal acceptance was extended, for the continuing services of Rev. Robert Pollitt. Special guest for the morning was the Rev. James Rasmick, the Bishop's assistant for ministry, who helped in negotiations for the new proposals.

The new church schedule will take effect this Sunday morning, September 4th.

Sanchez-Aguilar are wed in Miami

MIAMI, FL—Miss Maria Eugenia Sanchez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eduardo Sanchez, became the bride of Ramon Aguilar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Aguilar Friday, August 12 at St. Hugh Catholic Church in Miami.

Father Garcia officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Gueda Fernandez sang "Ave Maria," accompanied by the church's organist.

Miss Sanchez, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a white floor-length organza dress trimmed with chantilly lace, the short veil was trimmed with the same lace. She carried two white orchids.

Mrs. Marta Lamar, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Marta Miranda, cousin of the groom, was the bridesmaid and Yvette Marie Lamar, the bride's niece, was the flower girl.

They wore old rose colored floor-length dresses made of organza. Roses made of the same material as the dresses served as hairpieces. The carried bouquets of assorted flowers.

Fernando Foyo served as best man. Jorge Luis Sanchez, brother of the bride, was the usher and Johnny Porro, the groom's nephew, was the ringbearer.

During the ceremony Castaneda and Ana Espin placed a mantilla, a family tradition, on the bride's and groom's shoulders as a symbol of unity forever.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Big Five Club in Miami.

Upon returning from their honeymoon in Can-Cun, Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Aguilar will make their home in Laguna, Miami, F.

Mrs. Aguilar

Wester-Shaw engagement told

BELLE GLADE—Mr. and Mrs. William T. Aspey announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Sheryl Marie Wester, to George E. Shaw Jr., son of Mrs. Bill Forguson of Belle Glade and George E. Shaw of Ft. Lauderdale.

Miss Wester is a graduate of Buchholz High School in Gainesville, and attended Santa Fe Community College there also. She attended Ft. Beach Jr.

College in Belle Glade, where she is presently employed.

The groom-elect attended high school in Ft. Lauderdale and graduated in Germany. He served with the U.S. Army and is attending P.B.J.C. He is employed by the Agricultural Experiment Station.

The wedding will be held September 24, at 4 o'clock at the Community United Methodist Church in Belle Glade. All friends are invited to attend.

Ballet classes will resume

PAHOKEE—Barbara Comrie's School of Ballet will reopen at the Pahokee Woman's Club on September 21st. The first class will begin at 2:30 p.m. with lessons for preschoolers. Mrs. Comrie teaches all ages of students.

For further information, interested persons should call 924-2473.

Miss Castro leaves for college

BELLE GLADE—Loly Castro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Castro of 749 S. E. Second St. in Belle Glade, will be attending Mars Hill College, Mrs. Hill, North Carolina.

Miss Castro, a 1977 graduate of Glades Day School in Belle Glade, left August 19 for North Carolina in order to acquaint herself with the school. She will work towards a degree as a social worker.

Former resident wedding is told

PAHOKEE—Mr. Jesse H. Bordeaux, 84, former resident of Canal Point and Mrs. Laurie Thrasher Burris, 71, were united in marriage in the Chapel of the Masonic Home of St. Petersburg, Fla. on Sunday, August 21st at 12:30.

Mrs. Burris was given in marriage by Grand Master of Masons in the State of Florida, William C. Mitchell. Mr. Harlan Sears of Canal Point was Mr. Bordeaux's best man.

A reception followed immediately after the service. The attending from Canal Point were Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hall and Mrs. and Mrs. Harlan Sears.

Mr. Bordeaux who was a long-time resident of Canal Point was active in the Baptist Church and Eastern Star and Masonic Orders.

Mr. Bordeaux and his new wife met, courted and were the first to be married in the Masonic Home. They will continue to reside at the Home.

Miss Harris is honored with shower

BELLE GLADE—Miss Teresa Ann Harris, bride-elect of Pedro Amador, was honored with a bridal shower at the home of Laura Weeks Monday August 15.

Hostesses for the occasion were Laura Weeks, Kathy Ballard and Linda Baker.

Laura Weeks created a candelabra center piece made of roses and mixed spring flowers, courtesy of the Rose Petal.

Cake, punch, nuts and mints were served as refreshments.

Amy Lee celebrates birthday

PAHOKEE—Mrs. Amy Lee of Annona Ave. Pahokee celebrated her 80th birthday, August 23rd.

Mrs. Lee was born in Williamsport, Penn. in 1897.

A birthday party was held in Mrs. Lee's honor on Sunday, August 21st at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Crouse of Boca Raton. Approximately twenty guests were in attendance during the afternoon where cake, ice-cream, nuts and petit fours were served.

Special guests for the party were Mrs. Lee's three children, Ann Crouse of Boca Raton; Mrs. Betty Leslie of Frostproof and Mr. Robert Fink of Pahokee. Mrs. Lee received several nice gifts including a stereo from her daughter Ann.

MASAKO NAGASAWA, the Lions Club International foreign exchange student, presented local Lions Club president, Ron Snyder, with a Lions Club banner from her father's club in Tokyo last week. In addition to the banner, she presented him with a district banner, club pins, a governor's banner, and a convention banner. The international convention is to be held in Tokyo next year. In return, Snyder gave her a district 35 medallion and pin and she was also presented a Clewiston Lions Club banner from their chapter.

Residents regretfully leave Pahokee

PAHOKEE—Mrs. Justina Johnson, resident of Pahokee for the past eleven years and Miss Beatrice Wilson, resident of Pahokee for the past two years, will be leaving next week to be near their family and friends in Mulberry, Fla.

Mrs. Johnson moved to Pahokee in 1966, coming from Plant City, where she had lived for thirty-eight years. She said she came to Pahokee to take on a nursing job at the local hospital, however, upon her arrival, the position had already been filled. Mrs. Johnson was then hired by W. M. Johnson as a cashier-clerk in his grocery store on Streamline road.

Both ladies are members of the Pahokee First Baptist Church, Happy Friends and the Fun-After-Fifty-Five Club. They regret having to leave Pahokee but will visit, they say, as often as possible. "Maybe every Thursday," Miss Wilson said, "to meet with the Happy Friends Quilters."

Xi Iota Alpha holds luncheon

BELLE GLADE—Mrs. Sandy White, President of the Xi Iota Alpha Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi, held a beginning day candle light luncheon at her home 200 S.E. Ave. I Street on Saturday, Aug. 27. The theme "Light Another Torch" prevailed throughout the afternoon.

Champagne cocktails and lunch were enjoyed by Mrs. Rosemary Buchanan, Mrs. Frances Burke, Mrs. Jeannette Cameron, Mrs. Anna Mae Chapman, Dr. Naomi Conley, Mrs. Janis Fliehs, Mrs. Alicia Gimenez, Mrs. Mary Green, Mrs. Hortensia Guerrero, Mrs. Janice Harris, Mrs. Mickey Harris, Mrs. Cynthia Humphrey, Mrs. Echo Painter, Mrs. Eileen Roessing and Mrs. Angelita Sanchez.

Help children put away their toys by making it part of the game. They'll begin to develop a good habit.

IN THE ABOVE PICTURE, Mrs. Justina Johnson, left and Miss Beatrice Wilson, right are holding a quilt that Miss Wilson started when she was 16 years old; that's 61 years ago. Every piece represents her mother's and sisters' dresses and her brothers' shirts. "It's all gingham. There was no such thing as polyester back then," she said. Mrs. Johnson sewed it together and the members of the Happy Friends Quilters Club all pitched in to quilt it.

Raiders get ready for first game of season

BELLE GLADE—"Eagle meat! Time to eat!" has been the call for members of the 1977 Glades Central High football team as the Raiders ran through their third week of fall practice to ready themselves for their first game of the year against Atlantic High.

Head coach Willie McDonald described the 1977 edition of the Raiders as a "young, eager crew" who are ready to play ball.

"We don't have anyone left who wasn't putting out top performance in the spring drills or in the first two weeks of fall practice," McDonald said. "Most of the boys out here now have been working on weights all summer and they're not having any trouble at all with staying in shape."

The head Raider said the weights program started last spring by coach Alvin Summers, who is McDonald's offensive line coach this fall, has done much to add hard muscle to many of the athletes' frames as well as building stronger wind and stamina.

That extra conditioning, McDonald said, has paid off the last three weeks during two-day drills, with the first practice session beginning at 7 a.m. last week, when teachers had to report back to school.

The Raider coaching staff has also been revamped for the 1977 season. Besides Summers, who is taking over the offensive line for the first time this year, Jay Seider will be handling the defensive linemen and McDonald himself will be working with the offensive backfield.

A new coach, Willie McKelton, will be assuming coaching responsibility for the defensive backfield and linebackers. McKelton is a 1967 Pahokee High School graduate who played as a quarterback for the Blue Devils and was switched to cornerback when he was recruited to play for Southern University in Baton Rouge, La.

He also played cornerback for a year with the Minnesota Vikings before moving to the Canadian League, where he played for a year, first for Ottawa and then for Edmonton. He played for a year for Portland, Ore. in the World Football League.

Working between the junior varsity and varsity Raiders is Ronald Cook, an employee of the CETA program who was working with McKelton this week on defensive backfielders.

Heading up the junior varsity program is Graham Frost, who is being assisted by Melvin Lockett and Raul Paz, a 1976 Raider who is acting as a special assistant while waiting to undergo another knee operation after being injured in the 1975 year and sitting through most of the 1976 season.

McDonald is also receiving unexpected help from another source. David Jones, not the standout Raider lineman who graduated three years ago but a University of Florida senior who was on the Gator football team until injuries forced him out of the program this year, is volunteering his services.

Jones is currently living in Winter Haven and is working with a refractory crew at the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida sugar mill.

"It beats just sitting around my rooms after I'm off for the day," Jones said. McDonald said Jones has been particularly valuable in his work with injured players.

The Raiders' first game is scheduled for Sept. 16 against Atlantic High, a team Glades Central has never defeated, managing at best to eke out a tie in the first game of an otherwise undefeated season three years ago when the Raiders went on to the Regional playoff against Chamaine.

With the constant cry of "Eagle meat! Time to eat!" being heard on the practice field this week, the Raiders are obviously going to be up for their annual match against the Eagles.

And that game is going to be more important than normal this year because Glades Central will only be playing a nine-game schedule. What was supposed to have been their first game on

HIT IT HARDER was the call this week as the Glades Central Raiders fell out for their third week of fall practice. Coach Ronald

Sept. 9 was cancelled when Ely high of Pompano Beach notified McDonald they wouldn't be able to come to Belle Glade.

McDonald appeared confident he would be able to better the 1976 record of one win and nine losses but regardless of how they do in the other seven games, the Raiders' chances of going on to a playoff this year will hinge on how they do during their first three games.

After playing Atlantic, and their next game against Jupiter, the Raiders will determine their playoff chances on Sept. 30 when they tangle with Cardinal Newman in the only other district game of the year.

The Raiders will play a total of five games at home and neither of the two district games will be in Belle Glade.

(Pd. Pol. Adv. by Kenneth Harris, campaign treasurer)

YOU CAN RIPEN CANE FASTER BY APPLYING POLARIS RIGHT NOW.

Poor natural ripening conditions are the biggest obstacles a grower faces at harvest time. High, constant temperatures, excess moisture, excess fertilizer intake—these and other conditions tend to sustain growth and delay ripening.

Polaris® plant growth regulator by Monsanto helps overcome these poor ripening conditions by artificially shifting the cane out of the growth phase and into a ripening phase. In this way, Polaris can "induce" the cane into ripening earlier than it would under these natural conditions.

Not only will Polaris enable a cane grower to better regulate harvests, but it will also help him realize more sucrose from his cane. Many growers are reporting sucrose improvements with Polaris ranging from 6% to 14% over untreated checks.

This season, let Polaris help you open your mill sooner and get more sucrose. See your agricultural chemical distributor, local county extension agent, or call N. F. Eason at (813) 481-1337 for more information about Polaris plant growth regulator by Monsanto.

Always read and carefully follow the label instructions for Polaris. Polaris is a registered trademark of the Monsanto Company, St. Louis, Mo. ©Monsanto Company 1977. PF18/77

COACH WILLIE MCKELTON supervises linebackers and defensive backfielders during practice at Glades Central this week.

Playoffs are set to begin

Men's softball season ends

PAHOKEE-Union defeated Hilyer & Lee Monday night to earn a berth in the playoffs for the winner of the second half of the Mens Softball season. Union displayed solid hitting strength and strong defensive play in this win of 23-9. The game was tied 4-4 going into the top of the third. From there on the game was clearly Union's. Woodie Salvatore led Union with five hits in five AB's, two of his hits being home runs. Joe Davis and Garry Gillis were both 4 for 5 and Dale Morris went 3 for 4. Dennis Williams hit home runs and Mike Posa hit one. Tommy Williams and Al Grooms both went 2 for 4 for H & L. Grooms hitting one homerun. Also hitting round trippers were Freddie Clements and Willie Lee.

In Monday's second game, Foodway went down in defeat at the hands of Wedgworth by a score of 29 - 12. Foodway took the lead in the first inning 5-4 and again in the third 7-6. Wedgworth's ten hits in the 4th and 16 hits in the remainder of the game put the game out of each for Foodway. Roger Dunnaway hit two home runs for Foodway and Skip Lanham hit one. Gary Bradshaw and Bill Miller went 5 for 7 for the winners, with Bradshaw hitting three HR's.

Tuesday's games were the last scheduled games of regular play for the season. Hatton Bros. took the lead early in the first game and held all the way to beat Chem Air 10-5. The only homerun of the game was hit by Vince Bush.

PPI defeated First Baptist Church in the last game 15-2. One homerun for each team was hit by Robert Ellis and Rick Butler.

Wedgworth won the first place position for the first half and is assured of at least a second place trophy. The second half was extremely close with three teams tied for 1st place. Union 76, Hilyer & Lee and PPI all finished with the same win-loss record. The winner of the second half, who will play Wedgworth for an overall first place winner, will be determined by a mini round robin, double elimination tournament.

The play off began Thursday night. PPI played Union in the first game in a very exciting, extra inning ball game, a homerun by Tony Rodriguez won it for PPI 12 - 11. Union had a one run lead after one inning but PPI came back in the second to tie it up. Union took the lead back in the third, and held it through the fifth. PPI scored three runs in the sixth to take the lead 10-9. Ted Butler's homerun for PPI in the top of the seventh and a two-run homer by Jimmy Herring in the bottom tied the score at 11 - 11. Tony Rodriguez homered in the eighth but Union was unable to score. PPI had a total of 22 hits to Union's 11.

PPI's team was still hot as they played the second game against Hilyer & Lee. H & L led by one after one inning but PPI exploded in the second to widen the gap 11-4. H & L added one run in the third but their sixth inning rally scoring six runs was not enough to stop PPI. Mike Frazier hit the only homerun, a grand slam, for H & L and Tony Rodriguez hit three for PPI, Hilyer & Lee out hit PPI with 15 hits to PPI's 12. The game was well played defensively by both teams with only one error being charged in the game.

Union and Hilyer & Lee will play the first game Monday night to eliminate one team from the play off. The winner of that game will play PPI in the second game. That team will have to beat PPI twice but PPI will only have to beat them once to eliminate them.

The winner of this play off will play Wedgworth in a best three out of five series. The winner will be the League Champions and the loser will win second place. The third place trophy winner will be determined by the overall team record.

Plans for the annual awards banquet on Sept. 10 have not been completed and will be announced next week.

Cathy Conerly is new ad manager

BELLE GLADE—Miss Cathy Conerly has been named the new advertising manager for the Belle Glade Herald and Everglades Observer, according to an announcement this week by publisher Biff Lampton.

Miss Conerly is a native of Mississippi who attended college in Texas before moving to the Glades four months ago. She will assume all the duties formerly held by Andy Campanaro, who resigned to go to work for Lake Equipment.

"We have been extremely pleased with Cathy's work," said Lampton. "She came to us with little experience, but she has proven herself to be a valuable asset to our sales department."

Included in her new role will be managing the three-member advertising sales staff as well as handling news of local businesses. She will also coordinate all the advertising for the four local publications, the Belle Glade Herald, Everglades Observer, Lakeshore Shield, and Glades Shopper.

Three are injured in SR 715 accident

PAHOKEE—A Canal Point woman was listed in fair condition Tuesday in Everglades Memorial Hospital and a man and woman were treated and released with injuries received late Saturday in a one-car accident on SR 715 near Lake Equipment Co.

Janet Marie Alexander of Star Route, Box 106 in Canal Point was admitted to the hospital following the 11:05 p.m. accident in which she received a hip injury and cuts. Florida Highway Patrol Trooper P.C. May reported Stephen Wesley Gingrey and Cheryl Kay Gingrey of 1978 E. Main St. in Pahokee were treated and released for injuries including one to Gingrey's shoulder, cuts and other injuries.

May said Gingrey was driving his car at "an excessive rate of speed" in the northbound lane when he lost control and left the east side of the road. The car traveled 240 feet out of control before going airborne for another 38-feet and crashing into a wooden sign.

May reported charges are pending in the accident.

SPACE TELESCOPE

A new Space Telescope to be used by NASA will be delivered into earth orbit in the 1980's, according to the firm who is manufacturing it, Perkin-Elmer. It will enable scientists to study stars and galaxies 20 billion light-years from the earth.

Pahokee Lions discuss recreation program

PAHOKEE—Tabling the idea of renting the Lion's building out for use as a restaurant, the Pahokee Lion's Club discussed the possibility of spearheading a private recreational program, during their Tuesday noon meeting.

Lion member M. I. Keen explained to those present that the program would involve fencing off the back part of the Lion's property behind the building and constructing black top tennis courts, bar-b-que tables and possibly a pool.

Keen said that the membership would have to be approved by a Board of Directors and membership in the club would be a privilege that could be revoked if rules were broken. But it was stressed that membership would not be limited to Lion's Club members, but also to other clubs and individuals.

"We seem to have lost our civic ambition," Keen stated, concerning project, he noted, "I believe it can be done. I believe the community will buy it and we can do it." He suggested that such a project could be completed within two years, with the help of donations. "I'd like to see Pahokee have something that Pahokee itself could be proud of," he said.

Although the club members present endorsed the program, a committee has been formed, upon the suggestion of Lion member Fran Gillis, to make a feasibility study and investigate costs of such a "community club." Lion member J. S. Atkins said he would like the community to understand that if this project is not feasible, the club will have to "turn to something else."

Members of the newly formed committee are Lions M. I. Keen, Glen Brower and Phelix Slonaker and citizens Doris Sasser and Clark Wilkinson.

Rabid skunks, coons could have been sold

State and county health officials are asking the assistance of anyone having knowledge of skunks and raccoons sold at Canton Auction Sale, Van Zandt County, Texas, July 2-4, 1977.

The animals have been exposed and could be incubating rabies. There is an immediate danger to any person who bought, sold, traded, or possibly even pet one of the wild animals at the auction, according to the Florida Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, Health Program Office.

One skunk has been diagnosed as definitely having rabies. An extensive search is being made to find the person or persons who either own or sold these animals during the auction. The one skunk with rabies was found in Paris, Texas, and so far a total of five of the animals have been recovered.

As of now, eleven people have had to take anti-rabies treatment in Texas. People from 25 states attended the Canton Auction Sale according to information from Texas health authorities.

The Health Program Office of DHHS urges any Florida resident or visitor who has any knowledge of the purchase of any of the skunks or raccoons, to contact the nearest county health department, and anyone who has been in contact with any of the suspected rabid animals should contact the health department or their physician.

Special race is set at Hendry County Speedway

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Mancil, owners of the Hendry County Speedway have announced plans for a special Sunday afternoon matinee race on Sunday, September 4th.

In addition to the regular race program, two special events including a demolition race and a powderpuff race will be added to the program.

The track has been under the management of Ken McDonald in recent weeks while the Mancils have been out of town. With their return and the announcement of the special race for Sunday, the management team has also announced plans to pave the track in the very near future. The racing program has been well accepted in the area and if we are to draw quality cars, we must pave track... and that we will, Mrs. Mancil said Monday.

The gates will open at noon Sunday with racing to get underway at 2 p.m. The track is located 11 miles north of Clewiston on US 27. Admission is $5.00 for the pits; $3.00 general admission and a free admission for children under 12 years of age.

Game of the Week will be broadcast

ST. PALM BEACH—Curly Gowdy, noted sportscaster and general manager of Florida Broadcasters, Inc., licensee of WEAT and WEAT-FM, has announced that starting September 8th WEAT Radio 850 will again broadcast the local high school football game-of-the-week.

Jim Gallagher, WEAT Sports Director, will be at the play-by-play mike for the eleventh straight year to bring sports fans the description of the top Suncoast Conference games.

The opening game on WEAT Radio 850 will be on the traditional Thursday night Conference opener between Twin Lakes and Lake Worth at Lake Worth on September 8th.

Teams for future games-of-the-week will be announced weekly, based on evaluation of team performance and standings.

Gunter to keynote Belle Glade Chamber dinner

BELLE GLADE—State Treasurer-Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter, who has been campaigning unsuccessfully for the past year to reform auto insurance by limiting pain and suffering lawsuits, will be the main speaker for the 1977 Chamber of Commerce Awards Banquet.

Mrs. Jewel Crane, executive secretary of the Chamber, said the banquet has been set for 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 20 at the Elks Club. Mrs. Crane said tickets for the banquet are print-and will probably go on sale after the next board of directors meeting.

"The word has already gotten out that Mr. Gunter will be the speaker," she said, "and several people have already called asking about tickets."

Gunter, appeared before the state Constitutional Revision Commission in Gainesville last week in an attempt to have some of his ideas on auto insurance included in the constitution when it's rewritten next year.

He was elected to the state senate in 1966 and was re-elected to the senate until he was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1962, representing Florida's Fifth Congressional District.

In 1974, Gunter made a bid for the U.S. Senate but was defeated by Richard Stone in the Democratic runoff. He was elected to his present position in 1976 and is currently considered to be actively seeking election to the governor's seat next year.

Born in Jacksonville and raised on a Live Oak dairy farm, Gunter has served as an officer or member of the Jaycees, the Central Florida Fair Association, managing editor of The Florida Alligator, the student newspaper. He was also president of the Baptist Student Union.

Gunter

As a U.S. Congressman, Gunter served on the House Agriculture Committee and the House science and astronautics Committee as well as becoming active in energy-related matters.

At Glades Central High School

Fewer students on first day

BELLE GLADE—The first day of school opened at Glades Central High with a shortage of teachers but with slightly fewer students than the first day last year.

Dr. Effie Grear, going into her third year as principal, said a total of 1,005 students attend classes the first day, with their schedules, but there were some who weren't fully registered and scheduled who weren't included in that count.

There were 1,059 students on hand for last year's first day of classes, she said.

Dr. Grear said she is still five teachers and a dean short of her complement of faculty, including a position which was re-opened for librarian at the annex.

She said the librarian's position had been filled but the man who had accepted the job had an auto accident Friday and informed her "in no uncertain terms" he would not drive SR 80 from West Palm Beach again.

Dr. Grear said there are a number of changes being made this year students and parents should know about, primarily a new attendance policy and several new tests this year's seniors will be required to pass before being allowed to graduate.

The new attendance policy places class attendance responsibility squarely on the student and its her parents.

According to a letter mailed to the parents of every student enrolled this year, the parents will be contacted by telephone or mail after five absences from any class period during any semester. If no response is received from the parent within one week, a notice will be sent by certified mail.

When a student is absent from class for ten days, a conference between the parent a member of the school staff must be set up. If the conference can't be held, the student could be withdrawn from school.

Several alternatives after ten absences include a contract the student and parent may sign regarding attendance and continue in the class on a probationary basis, receiving credit if all the terms of the contract are met.

Parents and students were also warned that each day the student is regarding attendance and discipline reasons will be counted against the ten days of inexcused absences and that two incidents of being late to class constitute the equivalent of one absence.

Besides the stricter attendance policy, Dr. Grear said there are new tests being mandated by the state which could mean a student, starting with the class of 1979 wouldn't be given a diploma.

The tests, involved are for functional literacy and the regular state prescribed standards for basic skills. These are in addition to the credits prescribed for the district for graduation and the Adult Performance Level tests now being required by Palm Beach County.

Only if a student fulfills all four requirements will a diploma be issued. Certificates of attendance will be issued students who fulfill the district requirements but not the state requirements.

There are also two possible combinations of successfully met requirements which wouldn't even result in a certificate of attendance.

Dr. Grear explained the functional literacy test as testing two standards on communication skills and mathematics skills, with a total of 110 test items and 34 skills being tested.

She said the functional literacy tests will be given students in the third, fifth, eighth and 11th grades.

City receives money for police, firemen

TALLAHASSEE—The City of Belle Glade will receive $16,336.95 for its police officers' retirement program and $7,660.80 for its firemen's retirement program for the 1976 calendar year according to Florida Treasurer-Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter.

"These are funds returned to participating municipalities from the state excise tax on fire and casualty insurance premiums," he explained.

The taxes are allocated by the State Treasurer to municipalities which have qualified to receive the funds under the two state-coordinated retirement programs.

A total of 163 Florida cities participate in the Municipal Police Officers' Retirement Trust Fund program and 143 cities participate in the Firemen's Pension Trust Fund program.

"Both of these retirement fund programs offer significant benefits to policemen, firemen and their families in their retirement years," Gunter said.

"I'm pleased to have a part in helping administer such worthwhile programs," he added, "I only wish more municipalities were participating in them."

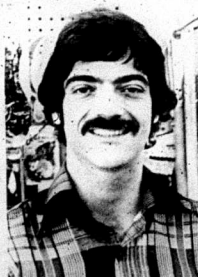

Both funds showed an overall increase for 1976. The total amount allocated to municipalities participating in the Firemen's Pension Fund was $4.75 million, an increase of 17.3 per cent over the previous year. The allocations to participating cities in the Police Officers' Retirement Fund totaled $7.62 million, an increase of 22.2 per cent.

Miller new manager at Best Buy Drugs

It was just a short hop from store management at McCrory's in Belle Glade, to just down the sidewalk in Glades Plaza to Best Buy Drugs. Bob Miller easily made the switch from one company to the other last month as he joined Best Buy Drugs as a manager.

A former native of Miami, Miller graduated from University of Florida in Gainesville in 1972 with a B.A. in Business Administration. After college he lived in Tampa and Orlando before coming to Belle Glade. Miller joined Best Buy in August but has lived in the Glades area for several months.

Infant swimming is for parents, too

PAHOKEE—Parents don't panic when they see Jim Quinn toss their infants into five feet of water, or when he drops them into the deep end of a swimming pool, fully dressed. Because they know it's only part of the Infant Swimming Survival course that Quinn is teaching to 25 children, ages 7½ months to 10 years, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Lane who have made the pool available for the lessons locally.

Quinn and his wife, Margaret, also teach infant swimming lessons at the YMCA in West Palm Beach. Quinn said they had so many requests from Glades residents that he decided to come out here, saving the parents from an 80 mile daily drive.

Quinn uses an original approach to teaching the infants, an approach developed by Dr. Harvey Barnett II, child psychologist at the University of Florida, which used B.F. Skinner's psychological theory of operant conditioning, a positive reinforcement approach.

Quinn is one of only 35 such instructors in the entire United States and there is only one other instructor in this area besides he and his wife. Quinn said that Barnett only teaches few instructors per year so "it's hard to get into the program."

Parents bring their children in for lessons basically for the same reason—safety. If their child should fall into a lake or a pool or even a bathtub filled with water, the child would be able to save himself long enough for help to arrive.

The purpose of teaching a baby to swim, Barnett says, is to give it knowledge of the water and how to stay alive in it.

One of the lessons a baby learns in this course is how to float. Quinn said he will throw the babies off the diving board and they come up floating. So in all probability, if that same baby were to fall off of a dock, he would come up floating, swim to the side and grasp the side for security, as the babies are taught to do. As the Barnett method instructors maintain, Infant Swimming Survival "is the cheapest life insurance you can buy."

"I have a ten month old baby at the Y who can swim the length of the pool," Quinn said.

Mothers of the Pahokee youngsters watch pleasingly and unbelievably as their babies learn how to open their eyes, close their mouths, move their arms and kick their feet. The mothers themselves take part in the lessons as they record data on a special calculator, data that will be fed into a computer at the University of Florida. The data is returned on a computer readout making comparison to babies of like abilities and ages, assessing strong and weak points.

Watching 11-month-old Julie Hatton wander around the poolside, Julie's mother, Mrs. Buttons Hatton, said the reason she and her husband wanted Julie to have lessons is that she is so active they were afraid she might fall into their home swimming pool, unsupervised.

The swimming lessons are also a precautionary measure for Quinn's student in Pahokee, a 7½-month-old Charlie Noland, son of Cissy and Ricky Noland. The family lives near a canal and the possibility is strong that little Charlie might one day wander outside and fall in. Quinn said that in 1976 4,000 babies drowned under 6 years old in average water depths of 22 inches or less.

Each day the children come with their parents for a ten minute lesson, also equipped with a nice big towel and wearing the same bathing suit. Quinn said the reason for having them wear the same bathing suit at every lesson is so "they will associate that bathing suit with work."

Though ten minutes seems like a short time, Quinn said "most kids are worn out in ten minutes, even the older ones." The lessons last an average of four to six weeks, Quinn said, emphasizing that all children are individuals and the instruction depends on their individual strengths and weaknesses.

As Quinn held a crying infant in his arms, walking back and forth in the water, he said the crying usually stops after the first week. "The reason they cry is not because they're afraid of the water," he noted, "but because of separation anxiety and stranger anxiety." The separation anxiety develops because the infant must leave its mother and the stranger anxiety because the infant does not know Quinn.

Quinn said the 15-to-19-month-old children are usually easier to teach than the 7 to 8 year olds because they have not had as much time to develop fears of the water.

The most obvious reward comes at the end of each lesson when the child is awarded a cookie, the reason being that the child will most likely repeat the performance if rewarded for it. In the water other positive reinforcement methods are used, including eye contact, smiling, hand signals and the everpresent "security grip."

JULIE HATTON, 11 months, grips the side of the pool before Infant Swimming Survival instructor Jim Quinn taps Julie's hands as a positive reinforcement measure. At the end of each lesson, the children are rewarded with a cookie.

The instructors determine the baby's readiness for swimming lessons by having the child grasp the edge of the pool. If, when the instructor claps his hands behind the baby, the baby lets go, he is not ready. For he is still using motor reflexes, instead of moral reflexes which usually develops around the age of six months.

By the end of spring, 1977, Barnett and his instructors had taught over 12,000 infants and only nine have failed to learn to swim, mostly because they were taken out of the course by parents who saw their child crying during the first week.

The course involves no artificial devices such as floats, in fact Barnett is strongly against such devices for they create a false dependence. But they use a shore board to simulate a slimy lake bottom of which the children must find their way off.

It is quite ironic that infants who can not even walk good are learning to swim in water from three to 12 feet deep, when Barnett was told ten years ago that children who could not stand in the shallow end of a pool (3 ft) were not ready for swimming lessons. That supposition has certainly been proven false.

Lessons in Pahokee will continue until October, weather permitted, and Quinn plans to resume them in May. Certified in CPR, he will also demonstrate Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation techniques to parents, through the American Heart Association.

TO TEACH A CHILD to keep its head face-down in the water, Jim Quinn gently rubs his hand over the child's head as the child swims toward him. Quinn has been teaching infant swimming survival lessons at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Lane in Pahokee, as well as at the YMCA in West Palm Beach.

HOLLY BRANCH, 12 months, goes underwater with eyes open and mouth closed as she is taught to do during her daily lessons.

The unique course was developed 10 years ago by Dr. Harvey Barnett, II of the University of Florida.

Lower insurance rates?

By Bill Gunter
Florida Insurance Commissioner

We have had the problem of soaring automobile insurance rates under intensive study within the Department of Insurance since I took office last November. During this 10-month period, hundreds of hours of work have been put forth in search of realistic, workable solutions.

Throughout this study, one item has consistently stood out - what I consider to be the outrageous toll taken from our system by "speculative damages."

Our research shows that very little of the money awarded for "speculative damages" - the intangible claims for mental anguish, pain and suffering - ever reaches the injured party's pocketbook. Despite this fact, "speculative damages" continue to consume fully 30 percent of the money spent for liability insurance.

In light of the fact that rates have reached heights which prohibit insurance protection for increasing numbers of Floridians, I am convinced of the need to eliminate "speculative damages" from our reparation system.

I intend to bring this inequity before the Constitutional Revision Commission in September, to ask their endorsement of its elimination.

Meanwhile, I feel strongly that it is too important to the pocketbook of every Floridian not to pursue this needed reform on every possible front. It is a reform that must be enacted if our system of justice and insurance is to remain workable and viable.

To this end, the FAIR Amendment Committee - Floridians for Automobile Insurance Rate Relief - has been formed and will soon be collecting voters' signatures in a statewide petition drive to place a Constitutional Amendment on the ballot in 1978 which would prohibit such "speculative damages."

This move was undertaken as a "people's amendment" to the Constitution, an approach which side-steps the politicians and permits the people themselves to take the driver's seat and initiate fundamental reform.

The success of the effort will depend on a swell of support from citizens throughout the state, not only with their signatures - some 254,000 are needed - but also with contributions to help finance the expenses of the petition campaign. We estimate the cost of the petition drive at approximately $75,000, a small amount considering the $214 million in savings on automobile insurance premiums promised by the FAIR amendment.

This will be a long and difficult task which will be bitterly opposed by those same vested interests which worked so effectively against similar reform measures in the 1977 Legislature.

However, as the one man elected by the voters of Florida to resolve the problem of impossibly high inurance rates, I feel I have no option but to undertake the task we have before us.

I have faith that the people of Florida...the people who must pay the bill...will agree.

If you have any questions or wish to voice your opinion on any subject, please write to "Straight From the Heart," Room 53, Capitol, Tallahassee, Florida, 32304.

Legislature, environment catch farmer's attention

GAINESVILLE - Florida farmers should direct their legislative efforts to environmental and labor issues, says Sen. Tom Gallen (D-Bradenton).

Gallen, speaking to more than 100 top Florida agricultural leaders in Gainesville Wednesday, Aug. 24, said agriculture should restrict its legislative activity to priority items which affect agriculture.

"Management and control of water is more important to the agricultural industry than any other industry. If you don't get control of water now, you will lose it to urban areas and food shortages may become a severe problem," said Gallen.

According to Gallen, labor will be a continuous problem in every legislative session as the makeup of the legislature continues to change.

"We're getting fewer and fewer business and professional people running for the legislature and more public employees, teachers and those with more of a union orientation," he said.

The Wednesday meeting included members of Florida Farm Bureau Federation's (FFBF) 14 advisory committees who met at FFBF's state office to formulate policy recommendations for FFBF.

Gallen, chairman of the Senate Rules and Calendar Committee, said he was proud of a proviso he attached to the Senate appropriations bill which encourages the state's school of Veterinary Science to accept more students interested in animal husbandry. He said too many urban students "who planned to be poodle clippers were being admitted, and that's not why agriculture fought so long to get a vet school in Florida."

Following Gallen's talk, FFBF's advisory committees met.

The advisory committees cover citrus, dairy, honey, labor, livestock, natural resources, ornamental horticulture, peanut, poultry, swine, tax, tobacco, transportation and vegetables.

Policy recommendations from the advisory committees will be sent to FFBF President Walter J. Kautz and the State Board of Directors for their consideration. Oct. 12, FFBF's State Resolutions Committee, composed of all 64 county Farm Bureau presidents, will meet in Gainesville to discuss the recommendations. In turn, the certified voting delegates will vote on the policies at the FFBF annual convention at the Orlando Hyatt House, Kissimmee, Nov. 6-8.

Aluminum pickup dates announced

BELLE GLADE—Citizens of the Belle Glade area are receiving 17 cents a pound from Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company for their clean, household aluminum.

During September, the mobile aluminum recycling unit will be at City Park, 500 West Canal Street, every Thursday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. to purchase aluminum from the public.

Reynolds pays 17 cents a pound for aluminum beverage cans and other clean household aluminum items such as pie plates, foil, frozen food and dinner trays, and dip, pudding and meat containers.

Certain other items, including aluminum siding, gutters, storm door and window frames, and lawn furniture tubing are also worth 17 cents a pound if properly prepared. This aluminum must be free of all foreign materials, cut to lengths not exceeding three feet and should not be mixed with cans.

Dave Vardell, District Manager, Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Co., said "Schools are back in session and aluminum recycling is an excellent fund-raising project for the students."

Vardell explained that aluminum recycling not only lets the youngsters do something constructive to improve their environment, but also teaches them the importance of conserving natural resources and energy.

Insurance public hearing is scheduled

Senators Don C. Childers and Harry A. Johnston, II (D-WPB) who represent six South Florida counties, will be holding a public hearing Sept. 15 on one of the most important issues in the state of Florida today—"Auto Insurance."

The hearing will be held at the Palm Beach County Courthouse in the commission chambers from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

There will be several interested organizations to be heard regarding the Auto Insurance and what can be done to make insurance affordable by the citizens of this state.

The Palm Beach County Legislative Delegation will be invited to participate at the hearing. All interested parties are welcome to attend.

The Bank of Belle Glade is still growing. The bank that has been first with more customer services again leads the way with a new building addition, part of a continuing expansion program. We're doubling the size of our present facility, adding more teller windows, more drive-ins, and increasing our office space, all to provide the services our customers want, when they want them. Our new building underscores the confidence we have in our community, the vitality of our economy, and our pledge to continue to set the pace in banking services. Come grow with us.

Farmer returns down

Returns to farmers in Palm Beach County were less in the 1976-77 crop season, reports Clayton E. Hutcherson, County Extension Director. Prices received for farm commodities by local growers were $106 million less than those of a year ago.

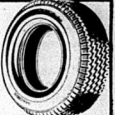

Crops experiencing a drop in revenue were led by sugarcane with a $96 million reduction. The other crops making up the remaining $10 million revenue loss included vegetables, ornamentals, citrus and sod. Within the livestock industry, only the horse industry registered a gain.

Primary causes for reduced returns were due to lower prices paid to the farmer and not a loss in production. This is especially true for the sugarcane industry. Prices received by growers for much of the year were about one-third less than was needed to meet production costs. Hutcherson states that while the January freeze caused severe damage to the vegetable and ornamental industries, prices received after the freeze partially made up for losses.

While the total reduced income to farmers was quite drastic, Palm Beach County still remains, by far, Florida's largest and most productive agricultural county.

For past county services

Bud Weaver is recognized

The Palm Beach County Cooperative Extension Service, today, held a recognition program to honor a County Commissioner and a former County Commissioner - Lake Lytal, after 31 years, and E.W. "Bud" Weaver for 12 years as County Commissioners. This program was a part of the Extension Open House and Royal Palm Festival activities.

Each man was recognized for the support he had given over the years toward an effective Extension Program in Palm Beach County.

While the Cooperative Extension Service is a joint venture of the University of Florida, USDA and the Board of County Commissioners, it would be almost impossible to carry out an effective program without local support.

Lake Lytal was cited for his efforts in supporting the construction of the Mounts Agricultural Building in 1955, supportive efforts in recent years with research and Extension efforts in the lethal yellowing program and his general understanding and support of the overall Extension Program.

E.W. "Bud" Weaver was recognized for his support of a strong Extension Program to meet the needs of the Glades area through adequate offices, manpower and a real feel for the strong agricultural industry in western Palm Beach County.

Involved in the recognition program were: John Causey, Extension Agent - Belle Glade; Arlen Jones, Home Economics Program Leader - West Palm Beach; De Armand Hull, Extension Agent - West Palm Beach; and Clayton Hutcherson, County Extension Director - West Palm Beach.

Wild turkey workshop is scheduled

LAKELAND - Wild turkeys will be the center of attention at a September 3 workshop in the Sebring Civic Center, Sebring.

The workshop, a joint venture of the Florida chapter of the National Wild Turkey Federation and the Division of Wildlife of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, will start at 9 a.m.

The event will feature talks on wild turkey management programs, hunting tips and the Commission's research programs. Manufacturers of turkey hunting equipment will have displays and demonstrations on the premises.

Frank Montalbano, Commission regional wildlife biologist, said, "The workshop should prove to be a rewarding and entertaining experience for the turkey hunting expert as well as the novice."

Part of the program will feature a calling demonstration with some of the champions showing first hand how to lure the elusive bird. Open to the public, the workshop offers a question and answer session with top turkey hunting experts.

SOME PAY PHONE CALLS NOW 25¢

The new 25¢ rate applies only on local calls from pay phones which provide "Dial Tone First" service. Local calls from other phones will remain 10¢ until the switching equipment serving these phones is equipped to provide the service. The service will be introduced on an office by office basis as the equipment is modified.

"Dial Tone First" phones provide a dial tone immediately when you pick up the handset, before you deposit any money. Among the advantages to you is that in an emergency, you can reach a telephone operator (and 911 emergency service, in areas where available) without depositing any money. And when placing local calls you are assured that the phone is in working order before you deposit any money.

Dial Tone-First phones are benefitting customers in another way, also. The additional revenues anticipated from the 25¢ rate are being used to keep everyone's rate for basic local service lower than would be required otherwise. These savings amount to 30¢ a month for each customer line.

Phones requiring 25¢ have a label next to the coin slot, as illustrated.

All relevant information is on the front of the telephone. BE SURE TO READ THE INSTRUCTIONS BEFORE USING THE PAY TELEPHONE.

Gold Coast Gardener

By Gene Joyner
 Urban Horticulturist
 Palm Beach County

Probably the biggest and most time consuming part of our home vegetable gardening is the control of insects, diseases and weeds. Many people put in an over-size garden that really is too large for their immediate family needs and find that they do not have the time to take proper care of it. Once the weeds, insects, and diseases start to get ahead of you it is almost impossible to catch up.

Many people find that in a small garden, or even a larger one, much of back-breaking labor of weeding can be eliminated through the use of mulch. Mulching materials can consist of grass clippings, leaves, old newspapers, or in some cases plastic.

The purpose of a mulch is to shade the soil which will reduce soil temperatures and promote better root development and growth, to help retain moisture and reduce loss of fertilizer due to leaching, and, more importantly, to prevent weed seeds that might be present from getting enough light to germinate.

If you see a mulch of leaves, grass clippings or other type materials you also derive an additional benefit. At the end of the gardening season you can leave this mulch in place till the following gardening season, and then work it into the soil to act as compost. During the time the mulch is left in place it will keep down much of the weed problem so that the following time you are ready to start planting you will not have large weed patch to contend with.

Insects and diseases are two other factors, with anyone who gardens knows. Insects probably give most gardeners the biggest problems and particularly troublesome are various types of caterpillars which chew and damage the foliage. It becomes necessary to make very frequent inspections of vegetables and apply recommended insecticides at the first signs of damage. For caterpillars or worms, insecticides such as Sevin or Dipel are very effective. If you are bothered by sucking insects such as aphids, Malathion and Diazinon are favorites. Spider mites are another problem which, although not wide spread, do present problems on certain types of vegetables. Miticides such as Kelthane give very effective control.

When applying any insecticides make sure that an adequate sprayer is used to that you can thoroughly coat all portions of the plant and the best time for spraying is during the morning or late afternoon. Chemicals applied to hot foliage may in some cases cause burning or leaf drop. There are a number of chemicals that can be safely used in the garden and any reliable garden center certainly should be able to provide you with products to control any type problem you have in your garden.

Diseases many times develop when we are having periods of rainy weather coupled with high temperatures or if you are watering frequently and not allowing your plants to dry out properly. Fungicides such as Maneb, Zineb, Dithane, and Captan are commonly used in home vegetable gardens. When using fungicides it is extremely important to cover all portions of the plant surface. If you do not get adequate coverage the areas that were missed will reinfect the plant and present continuing problems.

Try to avoid watering the foliage as much as possible to help reduce the incidence of diseases and when a problem is noted certainly start treatments immediately. Many home gardeners prefer to be on a preventive program and I would suggest spraying at weekly intervals for optimum results.

Nu Kappa announces bazaar

BELLE GLADE—The members of Nu Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi would like to announce their plans for a bazaar on September 17, at the Belle Glade Civic Center.

Funds raised will be donated to some of Belle Glade's local charities.

More details will be announced at a later date.

Radio Club recognizes two members

BELLE GLADE—Two members of the Belle Glade Amateur Radio Club were recognized at the last meeting of the local group for having received advanced FCC licenses.

The two Ham operators are Bill Tyler and Ralph Marotta. The men now hold the "next to the top" license offered by the Federal Communications Commission.

Ten of the twelve local members attended the most recent meeting of the club, which meets monthly at the National Guard Armory.

Radio enthusiasts interested in Ham operations are invited to the next meeting of the club, which will be at 7:30 p.m. on September 29.

For more information, interested residents may call Frank Westwood at 996-2046 or after 5:00 p.m. at 996-2313. They can also call Tom Pierson at 996-6195.

Obituary

HARVEY JAMES HARTWICK

Funeral services for Harvey James Hartwick were held August 27 at the South Bay Baptist Church.

Mr. Hartwick passed away August 25 at Glades General Hospital. He had lived in the Glades for 27 years, making his home at 160 N.W. 2nd Ave. in South Bay. Before his illness, he was employed by Nozzle Nolen Pest Control.

Mr. Hartwick is survived by his wife, Inez Hartwick; daughters Shirlene Agnew of Belle Glade, Beverly Bunting of South Bay, and Carol Madden of Atlanta, Ga.; a son, Roger Hartwick of South Bay; eight grandchildren, two sisters and two brothers.

Services were conducted by Rev. Bill H. Anderson and interment followed at Port Mayaca Cemetery. Pallbearers included Larry McElrath, John Stoker, Billy Agnew, Larry Gilmore, James Smith and Basil Cook.

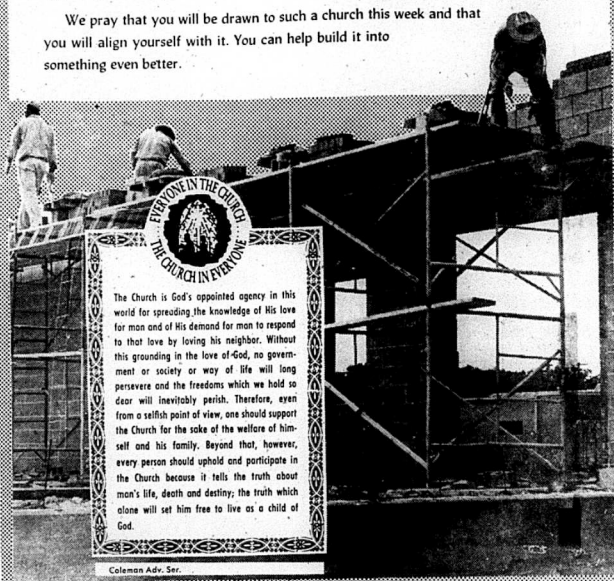

Mixon Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

What Does It Take To Build A Church?

Perhaps you glance at the church on the corner once in a while and wonder what it would be like to visit during a service. What is it that draws those people to that particular building every week? What built that church?

The only possible answer is — the love of God. Their love of God prompted them to sacrifice and give so that the sanctuary might be built. The love of God compels them to meet there with others who serve Him. Their love of God compels them to "go, and tell others".

We pray that you will be drawn to such a church this week and that you will align yourself with it. You can help build it into something even better.

This message is sponsored by these community-minded businesses who remind you to attend the church of your choice.

Jack Cushing

Glades Appliance in 4th year

Jack Cushing is the owner-manager of Glades Appliance Center. Glades Appliance Center is involved in the sales and services of appliances.

Glades Appliance Center handles the Amana, Whirlpool, and Kelvinator lines of merchandise. Cushing sells all types of appliances, including ice making equipment, washers, dryers, and restaurant equipment.

Glades Appliance Center employs seven men and makes service calls 24 hours a day. Cushing tries to keep his overhead cost down by not having showroom stock. He says that most items are available within 24 hours so that there is no inconvenience to the customer.

Cushing was born and reared in Stamford, Connecticut. He attended school at Avon Old Farms in Hartford.

Cushing became interested in mechanics by just doing it. He said that there were no technical schools when he started, so he learned by the experience of taking things apart and putting them together.

21 years ago, Cushing moved to Jupiter and got into the refrigeration business. He then went to Palm Beach and did custom building of marine air conditioning and refrigeration. That in itself is a technical field since it is much different from domestic work.

Cushing moved to Pahokee four years ago with one the largest boats he has owned. He has lived on boats most of his life.

Cushing found that the people in Pahokee needed his services and opened Glades Appliance Center. Two years ago in November, Cushing married his secretary, Barbara. They now live in Canal Point. Cushing is a member of the Chamber of Commerce. His hobbies include repairing old boats, diving, and work. He maintains that a person must love his work to stay in it, and he does.

When asked about the effect of the energy crisis on his business, Cushing replied that it has made people more conscious of their appliances and the care of them. People tend to have more air conditioning tune ups and periodic cleaning. These things can cut the operating costs by as much as half.

As to the future of Glades Appliance Center, Cushing says he likes Pahokee and Belle Glade, loves the people, and wants to stay here.

Cushing and Barbara also have the Continental Bus Station in Pahokee. It is maintained primarily for freight shipping. They feel that it provides a great service to the people of Pahokee and will continue to run it.

Cushing has had Glades Appliance Center for four good years and hopes to be here for good.
